

MOST'S SENTENCE DEFERRED.

ARRAIGNED IN COURT AND THENTAKEN
BACK TO THE TOMBS.

He Will be Sentenced on Thursday Morning
The Hon. Anarchist Handcuffed to a Common Jail in the Tombs Between the Black Maria—Mr. Howe Obtains a Postponement After Much Argument.

ERR MOST'S pale and morosely distorted face, visible through the iron bars of the Black Maria, caused a long line of stragglers to follow that vehicle on the way from the Tombs to the General Sessions Court this morning. At sight of the van as it turned into Centre street numbers of gaudy and wild-eyed men, who had waited at the corners of Franklin and Leonard streets, got in their rear and followed on a dead run. Outside the brown-stone building they joined the main body of Anarchists, whose anxiety to get a word of cheer to their leader led them to brave the rain and the cold of police.

Most almost fell from the vehicle as the door opened. To his unspeakable indignation he was handcuffed to Charles Brown, an ordinary, every-day young fellow about five feet high. The disparity in size between him and the Anarchist chief was ludicrous, besides being very inconvenient to Most. The steps of the Black Maria are high and steep, and the conveyance is narrow. Thus, when Officer Cassidy drew Brown out by the hand, Most tumbled involuntarily and inelegantly after him.

There was a wicked glitter in Most's eyes as he was thrust in the pen. His imprisonment in the Tombs has evidently filled him with a yet deeper hatred for "the capitalistic beast."

The court-room was crowded long before Judge Cowing took his seat. Most's Anarchist friends, Shovelitz, Strelitz, Schlegel, A. C., managed to squeeze in, and Mrs. Ida Hoffman, his surety, sat in the front row. Lawyer William F. Howe, with a keen sense of the requirements of the situation, appeared in a blazing red scarf of unusual shade, made still more conspicuous by a big diamond pin. In a hum of conversation ceased as the rattle of his "Hear ye, hear ye," and banged away at the desk.

"John Most to the bar," called out the clerk, and a path was rapidly made for the court officers to allow Most to come to the front. Assistant District Attorney Nicolotti rose to move that Most be sentenced in accordance with the verdict found on Tuesday last. He was interrupted by Mr. Howe, whose strident voice was heard as follows:

"Before your Honor listens to this motion in the case of Herr Most, I ask, in view of the fact that the photograph which was made only just before he was taken to the Tombs, and which was handed in, that we may have until Friday next to reduce our points to writing and prepare our case thoroughly. There are questions of importance, not only to Mr. Most, but to the community, that they should not be passed upon lightly. The principle at stake here is of far more importance to the people than the case of a thousand Mosts, a thousand Nicolls or a thousand Howes. I pass my word that in the meantime we shall not apply for our client's release on bail."

"I ask," said Mr. Nicolotti, rising as Mr. Howe ceased, "if there is any likelihood that this Court, after the careful consideration given to the case, will under any circumstances direct a new trial? It seems to me that this delay is unnecessary."

"Your Honor," pleaded Mr. Howe, "I want to be heard on my exceptions. There is no case to be heard in more of importance to me than this."

"Well, I'll give you a few days," said Judge Cowing, "but not until Friday. I will give you till Thursday morning at 11 o'clock."

That ought to have settled the matter, but Mr. Howe and Mr. Nicolotti had further talk about the points Mr. Howe expected to make. If any new affidavits were to be made, Mr. Nicolotti said he claimed the right to be served with copies of them in advance, and Judge Cowing so ordered.

But Mr. Howe started the storm by saying that he did not intend to offer anything new or sensational in Most's favor. He should confine himself to the argument on the points of law.

BLOWN TO DEATH BY AN ENGINE.

Three Men Killed and Several Injured on the Intercontinental Railway.

HALIFAX, Dec. 5.—An engine of the Intercontinental Railway, while standing at St. Elmer station this morning, exploded, killing three men and seriously injuring a number of others. The train had just hauled up at the station and the conductor and driver were in the office for orders. About two minutes after they left the engine a terrible explosion took place, completely wrecking the engine and throwing the fire box, weighing ten tons, about twenty yards away.

Four men who were on the engine were blown into the air and three killed. The fourth man, Alex. Murray, was terribly injured, but it is thought he will live. The names of the killed are: Daniel Robertson, Alex. Fraser and William Eastwood. All leave large families, who are destitute. Their bodies were terribly mutilated.

THANKED BY PRESIDENT CARNOT.

Rouviere's Cabinet Retires—The New President Will Consult Republicans.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—President Sadi-Carnot fat his reception to the retiring Rouviere Cabinet last evening thanked them for the patriotic devotion they had shown during the recent crisis. He said he would not form a Cabinet till after he had consulted with the Presidents of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies and the chiefs of the Republican groups. The Republican journals advocate a policy of appeasement and concentration. The Conservative papers doubt that such a policy would be a lasting success. Thirty candidates for the Senate were nominated in various departments yesterday. Most of them were Republicans.

DEATH OF LORD LYONS.

Sketch of the Venerable Diplomat's Career—His Mission to the United States.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Lord Lyons, the venerable diplomat, died to-day, in the seventieth year of his age.

Lord Lyons was born at Lymington in 1818. After graduation at Oxford in 1839 he went to Athens as an attaché of the British Legation. In 1842 he was sent to Dresden, in 1850 to Florence and was made envoy to Tuscany in 1858.

In 1869 he was sent to the United States as Envoy Extraordinary, and remained in this capacity until 1873.

During the Civil War he was efficient in smoothing the rumpled relations between the two countries, and did much to bring about the peaceful settlement of Geneva.

Lord Lyons was sent to Constantinople in the latter part of 1865, and transferred to Paris in 1867, where he served until a short time ago, when he was replaced by Lord Lytton.

Lord Lyons was never married, and his title of Viscount dies with him.

BOUND TO HAVE BEER OR BLOOD.

Mayor Roche, of Chicago, Wanted to Suppress the Anarchist Sauciness.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Mayor Roche has been summoned back to Chicago from Washington by Chief of Police Eberstadt to take charge of matters in connection with the Anarchist Sauciness.

The Reds are determined to have beer on Saturday or have a riot. The police do not relish the job of taking the initiative of breaking up another meeting after the Haymarket, and it is proposed to take matters in hand as to forestal trouble and prevent bloodshed.

HE WAS ROBBED OF $30,000.

Peter Bennett Overpowered by Burglars Who Leave Him Nearly Dead.

WATERVILLE, Me., Dec. 5.—Last night an old man named Peter Bennett was robbed of $30,000 at East Newport, where he resided.

Two masked robbers entered his chamber at midnight and overpowered him. He was badly injured and may die.

The money was secreted in a trunk, and the burglars must have known this. It is rumored here that his son is suspected.

Death Caused by Poison. Deputy Coroner O'Meara this afternoon held autopsies on the bodies of Giuseppe and Rose Saggio, Italian husband and wife, who died yesterday at their rooms in the telephone building at 112 West street, after eating a breakfast made from materials taken from a bowery eat-ten. The stomach of each was badly inflamed, and it was evident that death resulted from gastro-enteritis. A chemical analysis of the contents of the stomach in each case will be made.

SAFE BURGLARS CAPTURED.

TWO ARRESTED WHILE ON THEIR WAY HOME FROM A ROBBERY.

A Fine Net of Tools Which Had Just Been Used to Rip a Safe Open and the Plunder Found in Their Possession—Pistols Drawn on Both Sides—One of the Men the Pal of Lestrangle, Who Killed Billy Walker.

Two policemen of the East Eighty-eighth street station did a clever piece of work this morning, capturing two safe burglars, together with a set of burglar's tools and the proceeds of a robbery.

One of the men, Robert Johnson, alias "Bob" Nichols, is an old and dangerous operator, and he gave the police a great deal of trouble. He has always covered his tracks so well that he has been convicted only twice for any serious offense.

A year ago he was concerned in a robbery in Brooklyn, and a few nights afterwards Tom Lestrangle, Tommy Walker and Billy Walker in a saloon in Horst street, near the Bowery, for the purpose, it is supposed, of arranging for a division of the fruits of the robbery over the river.

At 2 o'clock this morning a safe in the grocery store of George F. Helsenbuttel, at 2,363 Second avenue, was ripped to pieces and its contents, including bank checks, $183 in money, promissory notes and other property, in all valued at $350, were stolen.

The thieves, taking advantage of the Sunday quiet, had broken into the cellar and from there gained entrance to the store by cutting a hole in the floor. To conceal them while at work they piled a lot of barrels around the safe. By 3 o'clock the safe had been robbed and the burglars, four in number, quietly sauntered across to and down Third avenue.

Then they reached One Hundred and Eighth street and Third avenue Policeman John Cottrell saw them, and knowing them to be "crooks," he followed them. As the burglars turned into One Hundred and Sixth street Cottrell spied Policeman Kane and he ran up shouting:

"Kane, grab those men; they are thieves." At the same time he seized Nichols by the shoulder. Nichols quickly thrust his hand into his pocket, where he had a big English bull-dog revolver, but quick as a flash Cottrell put a pistol at the thief's head. Nichols reluctantly yielded, and his pistol fell to the pavement with a sharp clank.

Meantime his companions took alarm and started to run, one of them sending a couple of shots at the policeman. Cottrell called to Kane to shoot Robert Clarke, a second ruffian, who stopped at once.

Clarke supposed that Cottrell was after him, and he shouted as he came to a halt: "Hold up, Cottrell. Don't shoot and I will surrender."

Kane seized him and found in his right hand a revolver, cocked ready for use. At the police station the men were searched. In the pockets of Nichols's coat were found a sectional jimmy, bits, wedges, a wrench and a full set of skeleton keys. Clarke had a stone-mason's hammer and couplings for jimmies. The tools were of the latest pattern. On the way to the station-house both men made an effort to throw away some papers, which Cottrell saw and which proved to be copies of the stolen checks. The prisoners were taken to the Harlem Police Court and were remanded. They are now safely locked up in the cells in the Central House of Detention.

When Cottrell and Kane were making the arrests William O'Mara, Jr., a builder who had been having a good time, interfered to prevent a capture. He held his pistol at O'Mara's head and the man then ran away, but was arrested afterwards.

Clarke is better known as Bruno and Wilson. His picture adorns the Bogus's Gallery, among safe-robbers.

EIGHT WEEKS OUT OF SING SING.

Solomon Sterns Again in Trouble Through a Bad Name and a Taste for Diamonds.

Detective Ruland, of Inspector Byrne's staff, returned from Baltimore this morning with Solomon Sterns, who ran away with $1,000 worth of diamonds which he had obtained from Frederick Kaufman, 192 Broadway, to sell upon consignment.

Sterns is an old offender, having been released from Sing Sing only eight weeks ago after serving a term there for a similar robbery. He told Inspector Ruland that he had tried to sell the diamonds in Baltimore, but was unsuccessful. He pawned Mr. Kaufman's diamonds in Boston and then went to Baltimore. In the latter city he committed a similar robbery.

Alvin Fischer Still Unconscious. Alvin Fischer, age twenty-five years, who was assaulted and brutally beaten in the saloon of Charles Bender, in Astoria, yesterday morning, was still unconscious at noon to-day. He probably will die. Frederick Huper and John Schemm, who were arrested for the assault, were taken to jail this morning to await the result of Fischer's injuries.

Condensed City News. Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, of this city, was made a night inspector in the Custom-House to-day, at $3 a day. About fifty Flans were landed at Castle Garden this morning. They are on their way to the Michigan factory to work as lumbermen. Albert Soler, forty-seven years old, a passenger on the steamer "Hesperus," which was wrecked on Long Island Sound, was killed by a fall from the pier this morning and broke a leg. The Charles street police last night found Maggie Manning in West street, Greenpoint, who was lying in the street. The girl, the police say, ran away from home some days ago. A customs suit against the Government for an overcharge of import duty, which was begun in 1887, was settled to-day. The heirs of E. H. Hennecy, the plaintiff, got a verdict for $1,067.15. George McCreary, secretary of the New York State Trades Assembly, will issue a call shortly requesting all trades unions to stand by that body and give a banquet to the delegates, which will be held at the Park on the third Tuesday in January. The Park Commissioners being in doubt as to whether they had the right to permit Bernheimer Eschmayer, proprietor of Salzer's Harlem River Park and Casino, was arraigned before Judge Weide in the Harlem Police Court this morning charged with violating the amusement law by giving a concert at the Casino last evening without having the necessary license. He was paroled for examination.

BEARS SHARPLY TWISTED.

The Bulls Toss Up Union Pacific and St. Paul Stock.

As Wall street operators are settled in their belief that legislation at Washington this winter will pave the way for an advance in securities, by letting out the surplus and preventing a vast accumulation of money in the Treasury in the future, the rise in the stock market this morning excited little surprise. President Cleveland's recommendations on the tariff as outlined in "The World" this morning were the chief topic of discussion in financial circles and had a good effect.

The bulls naturally selected the stocks for leader in which the outstanding short interest is greatest. Union Pacific and St. Paul were the special cards and the bears in them were sharply twisted, the former rising about two points, to 89 1/2 and the latter 1 1/2 to 7 1/2.

The trading was lively and at intervals attended with considerable excitement. The movement could hardly have been more successful if London had not been in the market as a buyer. The termination of the political troubles in France has restored confidence on the whole European continent, and the capital, which has been held in abeyance, is once more seeking profitable investment. The bankers with connections abroad were among the heaviest buyers of stocks to-day.

The Richmond Terminal fight is by no means ended. A conference was held on Saturday, when some of the large stockholders appointed a committee of three to solicit proxies for a ticket in which Mr. Sully's name is left out. Apropos of this row, it is said that Gen. Thomas, who is a friend of Sully, sold a big block of Terminal stock for $100,000, which he sold in the bull campaign started by the opponents of the latter.

Money has lent at 5 1/2 per cent. on call. Foreign exchange is dull and steady. Posted rates 4.92 and 4.84.

BONDS STROUGHER.

In governments coupon 4s sold at 125 1/2 and 4 1/2 at 107 1/2. The asking price for the former is now 126, and for the latter 107 1/2. One sale of State bonds was effected, the amount $1,000. Alabama class A, 106. In railroad bonds Fort Worth 1st advanced 1/2 to 80 1/2; Nickel Plate 4 1/2 to 96 1/2; Kansas & Texas 6 1/2 to 77 1/2; C. & O. currency 6 1/2 to 107 1/2. Central Pacific 104 1/2, and Oregon 1st 7 1/2 to 94 1/2. Wash. Chicago Div. fell 1/2 to 101 1/2, and Cairo & Fulton 1st 1 to 100 1/2.

THE FOREIGN MARKET.

American railway securities in London were active and in good demand. Prices advanced 1/2 to 1 1/2. The 4 1/2 per cent. Central Pacific and St. Paul being particularly strong. Consols for money fell off to 10 1/2, and do. for the account rose to 10 1/2. In Paris the 3 per cent. rentes rose to 82 1/2, from 82 1/2 and 84.
